Local Newspaper Urged as Defense Medium

Use of local newspapers as a medium for the dissemination of defense information was advocated by Superintendent of Police Samuel Siegle in a police program broadcast over Station WIP Tuesday night.

R. George Harvey, representing the Pennsylvania Police Chiefs Association, asked Superintendent Siegle, who is chairman of the Haverford Township Defense Council.

"How do you disseminate information on current problems of civilian defense to your volunteers, Superintendent?"

Replied the police chief: "Actual instructions are furnished in pamphlet form. We also incorporate information in our local paper, The Haverford Township News, which devotes two front page columns of space to civilian defense information. This column contains each week detailed and up-to-date information and instructions on civilian defense matters."

NAME LOCAL TIRE RATIONING BOARD; QUOTA SET FOR AUTOS AND TRUCKS

Method of Issuing Certificates Explained By Price Chief

Makeup of the 11 district tire rationing boards which began functioning Monday, January 5, in Montgomery County has been announced by the Montgomery County Tire Rationing Board.

The County Board was established by the County Defense Council under authority from the State Council of Defense, Harrisburg and the Office of Price Administration, Washington. Its members are A. B. Detweiler, Oaks, chairman; Norman L. John, Pottstown, secretary, and John A. Lafore, Jr., Merion.

Under the new government regulations no new tires will be sold for civilian use without a certificate and certificates can be issued only by the local Tire Rationing Boards to applicants within the eligibility classification set up by the government.

The quota for January for Montgomery County is 252 passenger car tires and 211 passenger car tubes. For trucks and buses, the quota for the month is 534 tires and 448 tubes. The grand total for January of tires and tubes for both passenger cars, trucks and buses is 1443 units.

The District Tire Rationing Board in Montgomery County will operate in the same territory as the corresponding numbered Draft Boards. Headquarters of the Tire Boards will be in the various Draft Board offices insofar as possible.

As soon as application blanks for tire certificates are received from Washington they will be made available at the headquarters of the District Tire Boards, at police stations, post offices and at approved tire dealers and garages in the area. Functions of the local tire boards, as set forth in regulations issued by the Office of Price Administration, are as follows:

- (1) Receive applications for tire rationing certificate and decide in accordance with established eligibility classifications and criteria of need whether or not the applicant is entitled to a new tire or tube within the quota assigned to the board.
- (2) Upon approval, to issue a serially numbered certificate to the applicant that will entitle him to buy the tire or tube needed, if and where available.
- (3) Keep records of all applications filed, allowed, rejected, and of certificates issued.
- (4) Make periodic reports to the County Tire Rationing Board and the local defense council.

Official State Inspection Stations have been asked by the State Tire Administrator to volunteer as inspection stations to pass on the need of applicants for new tires.

Lower Merion High Streak Extended To 16 In Row

Lower Merion High School's basketball team evidently has a fondness for the numerals, 36-17.

Chester and Roxborough high schools both were humbled by these figures as Coach Bill Anderson's passers extended their season's winning streak to seven straight. Counting the nine games won at the close of last season, the streak actually is 16 in a row.

The Andersonmen were very impressive in these two victories and should start the defense of their Suburban Section One League title at the top of their game when they invade the Old York Road to tackle Abington High School Friday night.

Abington isn't causing much concern as the Ghosts finished in last place last season and haven't won a game so far this year. Coach Anderson doesn't even have the bandbox Abington gym to worry about, as in past seasons, because the Ghosts now play in a spacious new $300,000 arena, one of the finest in the suburbs.

Those Lower Merion followers who were afraid of over confidence eating into Maroon ranks were rather pleased Tuesday a week ago when the Andersonmen had all kinds of trouble with Camden High School, barely winning 16-13 on two late goals by Allan Perkins. The Maroon trailed by 7-6 at halftime.

was able to score only six field goals. Only bright point was its own airtight defense which limited Camden to four field goals.

This close call jolted the L. M. team from its complacency. It came back with a stunning first half attack which netted a 26-6 lead over Chester and paved the way for a comfortable 36-17 victory Friday night. Captain Harry Middleton and lanky Bill Koehler were the spearheads of the attack, accounting for 15 and 13 points, respectively.

Middleton also showed the way against Roxborough Tuesday afternoon, swishing the cords for five field goals and 10 points. Koehler and center Greer Heindel each tallied seven points.

Instead of sweeping Roxborough off its feet with a withering opening attack as it did Chester, the Maroon threw up a tight defense to hold the enemy at bay, then gradually increased the tempo of its attack. The Maroon led by only 12-7 at halftime, turned the game into a rout with a 16-point spurge in the last period.

So effective was the Maroon defense that Roxborough didn't get a field goal for 12 minutes, garnered but two the entire first half. The visitors were also blanketed from scrimmage during the first six minutes of the second half.

NAME LOCAL TIRE RATIONING BOARD; QUOTA SET FOR AUTOS AND TRUCKS

Method of Issuing Certificates Explained By Price Chief

Makeup of the 11 district tire rationing boards which began functioning Monday, January 5, in Montgomery County has been announced by the Montgomery County Tire Rationing Board.

The County Board was established by the County Defense Council under authority from the State Council of Defense, Harrisburg and the Office of Price Administration, Washington. Its members are A. B. Detwiler, Oaks, chairman; Norman L. John, Pottstown, secretary, and John A. Lafore, Jr., Merion.

Under the new government regulations no new tires will be sold for civilian use without a certificate and certificates can be issued only by the local Tire Rationing Boards to applicants within the eligibility classification set up by the government.

The quota for January for Montgomery County is 252 passenger car tires and 211 passenger car tubes. For trucks and buses, the quota for the month is 534 tires and 446 tubes. The grand total for January of tires and tubes for both passenger cars, trucks and buses is 1443 units.

The District Tire Rationing Boards in Montgomery County will operate in the same territory as the corresponding numbered Draft Boards. Headquarters of the Tire Boards will be in the various Draft Board offices insofar as possible.

As soon as application blanks for tire certificates are received from Washington they will be made available at the headquarters of the District Tire Boards, at police stations, post offices and at approved tire dealers and garages in the area. Functions of the local tire boards, as set forth in regulations issued by the Office of Price Administration, are as follows:

- (1) Receive applications for tire rationing certificate and decide in accordance with established eligibility classifications and criteria of need whether or not the applicant is entitled to a new tire or tube within the quota assigned to the board.
- (2) Upon approval, to issue a serially numbered certificate to the applicant that will entitle him to buy the tire or tube needed, if and where available.
- (3) Keep records of all applications filed, allowed, rejected, and of certificates issued.
- (4) Make periodic reports to the County Tire Rationing Board and the local defense council.

Official State Inspection Stations have been asked by the State Tire Administrator to volunteer as inspection stations to pass on the need of applicants for new tires.

Lower Merion High Streak Extended To 16 In Row

Lower Merion High School's basketball team evidently has a fondness for the numerals, 36-17.

Chester and Roxborough high schools both were humbled by these figures as Coach Bill Anderson's passers extended their season's winning streak to seven straight. Counting the nine games won at the close of last season, the streak actually is 16 in a row.

The Andersonmen were very impressive in these two victories and should start the defense of their Suburban Section One League title at the top of their game when they invade the Old York Road to tackle Abington High School Friday night.

Abington isn't causing much concern as the Ghosts finished in last place last season and haven't won a game so far this year. Coach Anderson doesn't even have the bandbox Abington gym to worry about, as in past seasons, because the Ghosts now play in a spacious new $300,000 arena, one of the finest in the suburbs.

Those Lower Merion followers who were afraid of over confidence eating into Maroon ranks were rather pleased Tuesday a week ago when the Andersonmen had all kinds of trouble with Camden High School, barely winning 16-13 on two late goals by Allan Eakins. The Maroon trailed by 1-0 at halftime, minutes of the second half.

was able to score only six field goals. Only bright point was its own airtight defense which limited Camden to four field goals.

This close call jolted the L. M. team from its complacency. It came back with a stunning first half attack which netted a 26-6 lead over Chester and paved the way for a comfortable 36-17 victory Friday night. Captain Harry Middleton and lanky Bill Koehler were the spearheads of the attack, accounting for 15 and 13 points, respectively.

Middleton also showed the way against Roxborough Tuesday afternoon, swishing the cords for five field goals and 10 points. Koehler and center Greer Heindel each tallied seven points.

Instead of sweeping Roxborough off its feet with a withering opening attack as it did Chester, the Maroon threw up a tight defense to hold the enemy at bay, then gradually increased the tempo of its attack. The Maroon led by only 12-7 at halftime, turned the game into a rout with a 16-point spurge in the last period.

So effective was the Maroon defense that Roxborough didn't get a field goal for 12 minutes, garnered but two the entire first half. The visitors were also blanked from scrimmage during the first six minutes of the second half.

CALLING THE TURN

by L. M. FORD

You can write it down in your little blue book as a pretty safe bet that the Section One basketball pennant chase in the Suburban Conference which gets under way this week will be a carbon copy of the 1941 race.

Lower Merion High School ought to be a bunch to win its fourth straight title. Last year the Maroon started out with a green team, lost only to Haverford in the league. This year, judging from performances to date and all available data on the opposition, the Maroon should go through undefeated.

Coach Bill Anderson probably will mean to high heaven when he reads this and will offer any number of reasons why it isn't so. And certain rival coaches and players will feel slighted, possibly insulted, that we've wrapped up the crown and handed it on a platter to L. M. before the race even begins.

But you just can't write off the facts as you would a bad debt. Even Coach Anderson admits he has a better team right now than he had at this time last year. That's quite an admission, coming from Andy. His main fear is that this year's squad won't develop as much as last year. Whether it does or doesn't shouldn't make any difference in the league race.

Team Has Everything

This year's squad has height, sufficient experience, lots of scoring power, a strong defense and the best looking group of reserves in years.

There was a danger of overconfidence but the close of 16-13 call with Camden High apparently dispelled it for the time being.

One of the strongest factors in Lower Merion's favor is that none of the other teams in the league appears particularly strong. There isn't anyone in the circuit as strong as Haverford High was at the start of last season. Norris-town isn't any stronger, probably not as strong.

Cheltenham, which finished in fifth place last year, is reported much stronger, but apparently rates only on a par with Haverford and Upper Darby, which have been only fair to date. The Fords and Royals both should improve. They tied for third place last year and ought to fight it out again for the same position. Abington is very weak and won't figure at all.

That's how the race shapes up as they line up at the post. Course anything can happen between now and the last week of February, but it'll take a miracle to keep Lower Merion off that top rung.

Fords Underdogs

Just to create a few arguments, we're going to attempt to forecast the outcome of the league games this year. We realize basketball is the most uncertain of all sports, but we're taking a fling at it just the same.

Friday's Games

Haverford at UPPER DARBY—This is a toss up, but the Royals should win in a close game due to playing on their home court and because they're somewhat farther advanced than the Fords.

LOWER MERION at Abington—The Maroon can get a league scoring record if it chooses.
Norristown at CHELTENHAM—Our hunch game of the week. We're told the Chelts have the punch to do it.

Tuesday's Games

Abington at HAVERFORD—Fords will win first game with points to spare.
Upper Darby at NORRISTOWN—The Eagles are always tough on their home court.

Cheltenham at LOWER MERION—The champs will cage the Panthers in their accustomed manner.

L. M. High Plans Annual Concert

Elaborate Program for Jan. 17 Is Announced

A varied program is planned by the Music Department of Lower Merion High School, when it presents its annual mid-winter concert on January 17, at 8:15 p.m. It will open with a performance by the Orchestra of the "Rakoczy March" by Berlioz, and the suite "The Rival Sisters" by Purcell, which will be played by a special string orchestra of forty members. The full orchestra will continue with the "Gavotte" from "Paris and Helen" by Gluck, "Hungarian Dance" by Brahms, and the "Liebesfreud" by Kreisler. The orchestra will be conducted by Dr. Bruce C. Beach, head of the Music Department, assisted by Donald H. White, former Lower Merion musician now completing his studies at Temple University.

As soloist, Ernest Giuliano, young violinist, will perform "La Folia" of Corelli. His accompanist will be Margaret Giuliano.

The choral portion of the concert will include selections by A Cappella Choir, under the direction of its new conductor, Gerald H. Woerner, formerly connected with the Stroudsburg schools. They will sing a group of sacred compositions by Bach, Bortniansky, Arhangelsky, Christiansen, and Vittoria. The Girl's Trio, consisting of Gloria Brown, Betty Reiser and Mary Bleakley, will sing "The Shepherd's Christmas Song" by Luvans, and "Sleep, Baby, Sleep" by Francis. The choir will follow with a group of spirituals, including "Deep River" by Burleigh, "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho" by Christy, and "Ole Ark-A-mo-ving" by Cain.

The program will be concluded with several selections by the Concert Band, conducted by Dr. Beach. Their numbers include the tone poem "Sunday Morning at Gilead" by Bendel, excerpts from the Gilbert and Sullivan operas, "Dream Ship" by DeLamater, and several well-known military marches. The audience will bring the concert to a close by singing the national anthem.

Police Setup for Defense Is Urged

Supt. Siegle Says It Is Natural Seat of Authority

Development of defense programs around local police departments was advocated by Haverford Township Superintendent of Police Samuel Siegle in a speech broadcast over Station WIP Tuesday night, in a police program.

In answering questions put to him by R. George Harvey, associated with the Pennsylvania Police Chiefs Association, Superintendent Siegle told of the results obtained in defense work in Haverford Township, where Siegle is chairman of the Defense Council.

"Two major objectives," he said, "have been foremost in working out the Haverford Township Defense Program. Both of these were aimed at answering two great questions which arose in everyone's mind when war was declared. These were: 'What is being done?' and 'What can I do?'"

"Once these questions were answered, we knew we would be on the right road to mobilizing all our civilian forces. Only such an approach could be expected to bring a maximum of protection for our homes and families. Thus, from the beginning, we have not left a stone unturned in moving rapidly ahead on our program. The Nation is on the march, and this march, to be victorious, must be reflected in every community as well as in our battle outposts. It is imperative that our defense programs get in step with this march. This is why we have considered it necessary to build a quick-stepping defense program around our police department. If a defense program is to take shape as quickly as it is needed, we were convinced from the onset that it should be built around the local constabulary or police departments. Our reasons for this I think goes a long way toward answering the problems of confusion and indecision that have arisen in some other municipalities.

"First, the police, by the nature of their existence as a law enforcement body, organized to protect persons and property, form the natural nucleus from which a greater defense program can expand. The average police department already has community-wide contacts in motion. It is ready to go to work and its officials are ready to direct the volunteer services of others. Patrol cars are on the road and radio hook-ups are in operation. Daily, they are dealing with problems which, basically, are similar to the problems we may expect to encounter on a larger scale if American cities are bombed.

"Second, the community's police force is already established in the eyes of the public as the seat of authority when trouble arises or an emergency develops. We all know residents call the police station on the least provocation. By nature and by organization, the police department is semi-military in structure. It is the only authoritative body to which such a function could be entrusted unless, because of inefficient and inadequate defense preparations, it becomes necessary to call in regular Army men to do the job.

What we urge is that the local police department become the skeleton around which the defense program is built. Let its official existence as the police power of the local community become the symbol of authority from which the defense program expands.

We in Haverford Township believe that the results thus far obtained are largely due to this promise from which we are working. We urge it as the antidote for the confusion over defense preparations which we have witnessed in other communities. Like all municipalities, we have many defense problems to solve, but we believe we have removed some of the elementary stumbling blocks by answering those two important questions: We have told people what they can do to help and we have assigned them actual tasks. We have demonstrated to our people that "something" is being done and by providing the opportunities for extensive volunteer service they are actual accomplishments.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert E. Keighton, pastor of the church.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Roy C. Williams, Jr., of Youngstown, Ohio, wore a tailored dirndl frock of white French flannel with matching pill-box hat and shoulder-length veil. Her bouquet was of white lilies and orchids.

The maid of honor was Miss June Chapman, and the bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Taylor and Miss Edith Randall. Their frocks were similar to the bride's, the maid of honor in blue, the bridesmaids in pink. They carried bouquets of pink snapdragons and blue iris.

Mr. Roy Neff was best man for Mr. Fawcett, and the ushers were Mr. Millard Smith and Mr. Richard Moniot.

A reception at the home of the bride's mother followed the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Lower Merion High School and attended the School of Industrial Arts. Mr. Fawcett is a graduate of Germantown High School and attends Drexel Institute. He is associated with the American Crusher Company, Philadelphia.

Mr. Fawcett and his bride are at home at 115 Merion av., Narberth.

Next Tuesday, the Literature Department will meet at 1:30 p. m. and the program will be followed by tea. Hostesses will be Mrs. G. M. Shuster, Mrs. B. W. Salmon, Mrs. A. J. Mottern and Mrs. Joseph Miller.

NARBERTH SCHOOL NOTES

Assembly devotions on Friday, January 2, were led by Marion Jones, Louise Watts, and Dick Blessing. Mr. David Kornhauser, an instructor at Camp Cedar Hill, entertained the pupils. Mr. Kornhauser is also an artist, collector, archer, and game hunter.

With him Mr. Kornhauser had several bows, arrows, guns and swords. Several of the bows he made himself. These included one made of wood from South America, which is his strongest bow and a cedar bow which he had made for his wife. He also had a Turkish and an Indian bow with him. Among the arrows he showed the pupils were a hunting arrow, a target arrow and a two hundred year old Chinese whistling arrow. Mr. Kornhauser passed one of his arrows, which he had made himself, around the auditorium for the pupils and teachers to see. He also had with him a deer skin of a deer which he had shot last year and the gun with which he shot it. Some other guns he had with him were a heavy twenty-two caliber, a light twenty-two caliber, several shot guns, and an English dueling pistol. The boys in the camp where he is an instructor won a state championship with the heavy twenty-two caliber. When traveling through Europe, Mr. Kornhauser bought a cane with a sword in it which was made in Spain. Among the other swords he showed his audience were a sword from the Spanish-American War, a sword from Borneo, and a mendo that had cut off the heads of thirteen people. He also had a blow pipe, from which you blow darts, with him. Collecting such articles is his hobby.

School Reporter, 8th Grade.

Each week one or two pupils bring in articles to put in the Hobby Case. During the Christmas Holiday the manger scene was set up. This week June Schrepfer brought in a silk coat and shawl, wooden dolls, hard wood carvings and chopsticks from Chinatown, San Francisco. This drew the attention of many pupils.

This week each class according to sections will choose from the School's picture collection two pictures to be hung in each classroom. The pictures were picked according to the type of picture that suits the age of the class. We were asked why we chose the pictures. The pupils liked the contrast of colors, spirit and technique. Miss Gassner talked about the quality of the pictures.
